OUR CRAFT,
OUR CAPABILITY

We make Vegan Ingredients

Slunch's Own Breakthrough

From Nature to Tofu, Slunch's Proprietary Technology

Slunch Factory applies its proprietary processing technology to grind, press, and solidify healthy soybeans into nutritionally superior tofu. Soybeans cultivated through farmers' dedication are transformed by Slunch's unique methods into complete foods rich in protein, forming the technological foundation for all of our vegan product development.

Technological Innovation in By-product Utilization

By-products generated in the tofu manufacturing process were traditionally underutilized, but Slunch has developed exclusive processing technology to convert them into valuable raw materials. Through this innovation, we create vegan ham, cheese, jambon, and sauces without eggs, milk, or butter — maximizing the value of by-products and pioneering resource-circulation food technology.

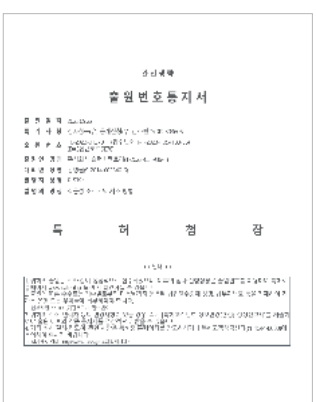
Expanding the Vegan Ecosystem Through Technology

These proprietary technologies extend into a wide range of vegan meal kits such as pizza, jambon beurre, and vegan tarts. More than just products, they represent sustainable food technology that addresses global issues including climate change, food shortages, and the exploitation of animal-based resources. Through technology, Slunch presents a new paradigm of healthy food and contributes to building a future ecosystem where all can coexist.

Core Vegan Ingredient Supply Stabilized Through In-House Factory

Slunch Factory Automated Manufacturing Facility

Our facility is located in Bucheon, Gyeonggi-do, with a total floor area of 298m2. We have recently expanded by acquiring an additional commercial space, and our underground factory is currently in full operation. Looking ahead, we are preparing to renovate the 1st floor into a modern commercial space to further support our growth.



Patent application for plant-based sausage manufacturing technique filed in August 2023
